

Canadian Hatching Egg Producers Donates $50,000 to Food Banks Canada

Canadian Hatching Egg Producers proudly continues its annual commitment to fighting hunger in Canada with a generous $50,000 donation to Food Banks Canada.

“Food bank usage is at an all-time high as many are struggling to make ends meet,” said Erin Filey-Wronecki, Chief Development and Partnerships Officer, Food Banks Canada. “Chicken protein is highly valued, needed, and appreciated. We are extremely grateful to the Canadian Hatching Egg Producers for their support at such a crucial time.”

This donation will bolster Food Banks Canada’s mission to provide essential food items to those facing food insecurity, emphasizing the importance of protein-rich resources such as chicken.

“As an organization dedicated to relieving hunger today while also preventing hunger tomorrow, we are honoured to support Food Banks Canada and contribute to their vital work,” stated Brian Bilkes Chair of the Canadian Hatching Egg Producers.

The $50,000 donation will directly assist Food Banks Canada in distributing nutritious food to families and individuals facing food insecurity across the country.

Brian Bilkes, Chair of the Canadian Hatching Egg Producers pictured with Don Armstrong, Director Food Bank and Warren Schatz, Community Ministries Director from the Salvation Army Care & Share Food Bank in Chilliwack, B.C.